- Lavender: for burns, wounds, acne, fungal infections and to promote healing.
- Patchouli (Pogostemon Cablin): for burns, cracked skin, eczema, sores and wounds, and is anti-inflammatory.

- Rosehip Oil (Rosa Eglanteria): for scarring and photo-aging (sun-damage).
- Tea Tree Oil (Melaleuca): for burns, abrasions, acne, tinea, warts, sores, sunburn, boils, athlete's foot; and has antiseptic, antiviral and fungicidal properties.

The 5 active oils interact synergistically with six excipient natural plant oils (Almond, Camellia, Jojoba, Evening Primrose, Niaouli (Melaleuca Quinquenervia), and Rosewood) to relieve a range of skin problems.

Following are instructions for using Fixaderm to relieve various conditions:

Cuts, scratches and abrasions:

A few drops of Fixaderm may be applied directly from the bottle to minor cuts and abrasions. To avoid the possibility of cross-contamination, hold the bottle so that the dripper does not make contact with the skin. Fixaderm may be applied to the damaged area by means of a clean finger tip or cotton bud. Fixaderm acts quickly to relieve discomfort, and should be reapplied two to four times per day to keep the damaged area free from pain, to promote healing and help prevent infection. You may see a slight pinkish colouration develop where Fixaderm has been applied, but this is normal and should not be taken to indicate that infection is developing. Continue applications until the cuts or abrasions have completely healed. Several of the ingredients of Fixaderm have been shown to help in the healing process.

Minor burns, including sunburn:

Fixaderm should be applied to the area of burns as soon as possible after damage. Massage it gently into the affected area two to four times a day, using only enough Fixaderm to cover the whole of the affected area, but not so much that excess oil remains visible on the skin. Fixaderm is quickly absorbed, leaving skin soft but not greasy. Fixaderm should relieve the pain within a few minutes, reduce the visible effects of the burn, and promote healing.

Insect bites and stings:

Apply Fixaderm as for cuts, scratches and abrasions. Repeat application as often as necessary to avoid discomfort.

Chafing, prickly heat and other irritants:

Place a few drops of Fixaderm on clean fingers and massage it gently into irritated areas. Discomfort should be quickly relieved. Repeat application as often as needed to avoid discomfort. Fixaderm may cause a slight pinkish colouration of the skin, but redness caused by irritation should be reduced. Use only enough Fixaderm to achieve good coverage, but without the skin being visibly oily. Keep massaging the area until Fixaderm is absorbed, leaving the skin soft and non-greasy. After several applications you should find that discomfort does not recur unless the skin is further exposed to irritants.

Acne and pimples

For acne, use a good facial cleanser and then massage Fixaderm into the face, neck, temples and forehead. Avoid getting Fixaderm in the eyes. For pimples on other parts of the body, apply a drop or two of Fixaderm when you see a pimple beginning to appear. Fixaderm may also be effective in helping reduce the development of boils.

Fungal infections

Fixaderm has been found to be helpful in dealing with fungal infections such as tinea and athlete's foot. Using a cotton bud, apply a few drops of Fixaderm to the skin between the toes and around the nails, paying particular attention to areas where fungal infections have occurred. Fixaderm may also be helpful in controlling ringworm infections.

Scars and stretchmarks

Fixaderm contains ingredients (Calendula, Rosehip) which have been shown to help reduce the appearance of scars and stretch marks when used regularly.

Foot and hand care

Regularly massaging Fixaderm into the skin on hands and feet helps to maintain skin in a comfortable and healthy condition. Using Fixaderm three times a week should help prevent fungal problems, and can help prevent cracked heels and splits around the edges of finger-tips that are common in colder weather.

Aging effects of sun on skin

Fixaderm contains Rosehip oil which has been shown to reduce the aging effects on skin of exposure to sunlight. It also contains Jojoba oil which has a natural Sun Protection Factor of 4, so Fixaderm reduces the possibility of sun damage if applied before you go out in the sun.

WARNING: In the unlikely event that you experience an allergic reaction, with inflammation and severe discomfort, immediately cease using Fixaderm and consult your healthcare practitioner.

NOTE: Store Fixaderm in a cool, dry place away from direct sunlight. Keep out of the reach of children.
